

RENAL AND BLADDER

Understanding when to perform a renal scan

Consider getting renal ultrasound instead of a CT scan for patients with high clinical suspicion for renal colic. If hydronephrosis is present, the current recommendation is to provide pain medication and nausea medication for a trial period, and allow time for the renal stone to pass.

Is there hydronephrosis?